

MasterWord Delivers 2.5 Million Translated Words in 4 Months

Olga Daggs
Head of MasterWord's translation division

“We were looking for something easy to work with; software that the translators can just open and intuitively start translating with right away”.

MasterWord is a top-10 North America language service provider, and it is one of the top-50 largest in the world.

A Team of 50 Freelancers

MasterWord completed a large oil & gas translation project in 4 months. This involved more than 2.5 million words, or 10,000 pages of construction training materials in multimedia formats. The company assigned 2 staff project managers and almost 50 freelancers to complete the task on schedule.

The team relied on Memsource for centralized translation memory and terminology. They saved a lot of time with file split/merge functions and direct translation of idml and pptx. The solution was deployed instantly and without any upfront investment.
